FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR NO. 23.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1931.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO LIFE OF YOUNG GIRL

Miss Frances McChesney, 20, only daughter of Dr. W. R. and Mrs. McChesney, died at the home of her parents, Friday morning at 2 o'clock, after an illness of about three months. She suffered from a complication of diseases and her condition the past few weeks was serious.

Her death cast a spell of gloom over the entire community for she was one with a promising future, having exceptional ability as a student and one of grace and charm that endeared her to all who knew her.

The story of her life is best told in part of the funeral service conducted by her pastor, Monday afternoon from the home of her parents. The home was crowded to capacity with friends and relatives, a number of prominent citizens, educators and ministers with whom her father was associated being in attendance. The floral offerings were many and carried the silent tribute of the high esteem and love in which her friends knew her.

Her pastor, Dr. Harriman had charge of the service and was assisted by local ministers, Rev. Hutchison and Rev. Jamieson. Others who had a part in the service were Dr. David McKinney, Cincinnati, former president of Cedarville College, and Dr. James L. Chesnut, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"Frances McChesney was born July 12th, 1910, and died at the early age of 20 years, 10 months and 28 days. These years have been lived in Cedarville, where in public school, High School, and in College, as well as in the church, and the social life of the community, she has been admired and loved by all who knew her, and where her departure has cast a dark pall of sorrow over all our lives. The heart of this entire community is going out in loving sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. McChesney, from whose home and hearts has been taken their very life, and light and joy, while all over this county, as well as in other countries, and States, there are hundreds of former students and graduates of Cedarville College, as well as a very wide circle of friends, who will mourn with them in their hour of trouble. And the sympathy from the hearts of all who knew her is that, 'Our God may supply every need of theirs, according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus,' and that the comfort with which they have been comforted and strengthened after sorrowing hearts may be given to them today."

"Frances McChesney graduated in the upper rank of High School, in the class of 1926. The following September she entered Cedarville College where her splendid scholastic ability, and her fine Christian personality made her at once a leader in her classes and in the religious and social life of the college. She graduated with the honor of Magna Cum Laude, June 1930, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and the State Provisional Teachers' certificate. Her scholastic ability won her the much coveted Cedarville College Crown Pin. She was honored by the College Y. W. C. A. by being made president and member of the Cabinet of that organization."

"In June 1929 she was sent by the Y. W. C. A. to the Geneva Conference held at Lake Geneva, Wis. It was only last fall that she wrote the service for initiating of new students into membership in the Y, and many of us remember how deeply moved we were when the service was conducted, and how pleased and appreciative she was of the token of esteem and love then presented her by the young women of the organization. She was also a member of the Cedarville College Glee Club."

"She was dedicated to God in baptism during the pastorate of Dr. Mills J. Taylor, and united with the Reformed Presbyterian church in 1920 during the pastorate of the late Dr. J. L. Chesnut, and continued in the stewardship of that church when it transferred into the Presbyterian denomination. She was active in the various lines of church work, Sabbath School, Young Peoples' Society and the choir. This church which was led thru forty years of spiritual experience by the good hand of her grandfather, Dr. Jas. Morton, and which has enjoyed the services of her father and mother in Sabbath School and in preaching and pastoral service for over thirty years, has sustained a severe loss in her decease."

"Her literary ability was well known, and a story which she wrote on the subject of Christian Stewardship and which indicated the high purpose to which she had dedicated her ability, was published in The Christian Union Herald, and was republished by many other religious journals. She had written many poems and other articles which she had never sought to have published. During High School an essay she wrote won for her and her English Professor a free trip to Niagara Falls. She was also sought for the entertainment of clubs and social functions. She had visited 22 states and the Dominion of Canada. "Take it altogether, hers, had been a full life. Never strong physically and disappointed in not getting started in her life's work, she fought a good fight, she finished the course, she kept the faith, and henceforth, we know that she has won the crown. She was always courageous, patient, wonderfully appreciative of every kindness, and expressing that appreciation in loving words."

"Hers was a radiant Christian character, like that of the Christ, whom she loved and served. It was fitting that Friday evening as the shadows lengthened into night she should ask that the family gather for the evening worship before she should go to sleep. She had never missed reading God's blessed Word, who can tell but that she fell asleep with the memory of these words from Rev. 2:7, 'To him that overcometh, will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God.' Farewell Dear Friend, Till We Meet Again."

Burial took place on the family lot in Massies Creek Cemetery where a large concourse of sorrowing friends gathered for the burial rites. The grave had been beautifully decorated by members of her senior class in college.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our heartfelt gratitude and thanks to our neighbors and friends, to the ministers of the Gospel, the Board of Trustees of Cedarville College, the Cedarville Community Club, Wilmington College, the faculties and students of both the College and Public Schools, the members of various church and social organizations, for their many kindnesses and loving ministries during the affliction of our daughter and our bereavement in her death.

This is an Agricultural Extension project to be carried on thru the year with Greene County sheep men cooperating with County Agent Drake and the Department of Animal Husbandry of Ohio State University. They also found that in the county there are 879 flock owners with 22,171 sheep valued at $127,604.00.

A letter outlining the project together with an enrollment card has been sent to each flock owner. The major points in the campaign as outlined by the committee are as follows: (1) The use of purebred rams; (2) Culling of the Ewe flock on the basis of performance; (3) Docking of all lambs and the castrating of all ram lambs to be marketed after July 1; (4) Treating the Ewe flock at least four times during the grazing season when they are on permanent pasture and the treatment of all lambs after weaning for the control of Stomach Worms; (5) The feeding of grain if possible to lambs after weaning; if they are to be marketed off grass; (6) Whenever possible legume hays shall be grown to supply a part of the roughage ration for ewes in the winter.

Those enrolling in the project will be sent information dealing with various production problems. In addition to this a series of demonstrations are to be held May 25, 26, 27 with L. A. The legislature is again in session to consider the various tax bills and also pass the appropriation measures. The special tax committee has drawn up ten different bills which are recommended and four others that are not recommended.

Bills approved by the committee are as follows:
The general intangible personal property tax.
The motor vehicle license tax that ranges from $7 a car to $25 a car, just about double present taxes.
Increase in membership of state tax commission to four.
The county Budget Commission of four members to be elected at large with power to supervise budgets and proposed levies and bond issues.

It is claimed by Smith that he and his wife were at a Springfield theatre at the time the robbery was supposed to have been committed. Smith was held on a charge of robbing a filling station at Fairfield, August 17. Frank Powers is said to have identified Smith as one of the hold-up men.

Stacking School House Comes At High Price

Having sport as "stacking" the public school building several nights ago proved rather expensive for five young men. School authorities report considerable damage to public property as well as valuable books and records of the school. Supt. Furst did a little "sluthing" and soon had the boys in the presence of Mayor Richards. Entering a school building is a serious charge under the law but no affidavits were filed. The property damage was listed and amounted to $100. The following boys agreed to raise the $100 by Sept. 1st to pay for the damage: Greer McCallister, Carl Bates, Donald De Hass, Stewart Harris and Marcus Ferryman.

For several years students in high school and college have "stacked" the buildings at some time or another during the school year and as a rule no action was ever taken. This year the authorities regarded the loss of consequence to demand payment for damages.

W. J. Davis Resigns As Resident Engineer

W. J. Davis, county engineer and also resident state highway engineer has offered his resignation after a service of twelve years. Differences over the letting of a road contract on the Dayton and Xenia pike are said to be the basis of action. The Highway department favored a tar macadam road in the letting for 3.3 miles section in this county. Mr. Davis wanted cement, particularly when it was lower in cost than the type of macadam selected.

The county commissioners have registered a protest over macadam for the Dayton pike. The Montgomery county section is now cement but macadam only has been used on the road in this county.

MONUMENT ON WOLFORD FARM IS DEDICATED

The dedication of the Brown-Logan-Kenton monument commemorating an important historical event in the history of Greene county, took place on the Otis T. Wolford farm last Friday afternoon with representatives of both state and county historical societies present.

Dr. W. A. Galloway, president of the Greene County Historical Society, presided. The principal address was given by J. B. Paxton of Stanford, Ky., on "The Invasion of Gen. Benjamin Logan."

The monument is located on the Speer road on land owned by Mr. Wolford. It marks the camp site of Logan, used by that gallant Indian fighter when he rode with a force of 701 mounted volunteers, in the spring of 1780, to attack the Shawnee at the headquarters in Old Chillicothe, now Old Town.

The monument is the gift of Mr. Wolford and commemorates his wife, Elizabeth Brown Wolford, and her pioneer ancestors, Jacob and Judith Walters Brown, who in the early part of the last century, came to this county from Rockbridge County, Va. and purchased what is now the Wolford land.

A bronze plaque on the monument details the events commemorated, was covered by a 13-star flag donated by Miss Anna Quimby, Columbus, an officer of the Ohio Bullskin Trail association. The flag is a replica of the one used by the Blanchard expedition in carrying supplies over the Bullskin trail which led through this county to Perry's fleet on Lake Erie.

The plaque was unveiled following presentation of the monument by Attorney W. A. Paxton, Jamestown. Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown, presented the arborvitae site in behalf of his uncle, Mr. Wolford.

Mrs. Evalyn Branson Howell, Yellow Springs, read a paper on "The Coming of Jacob and Judith Walters Brown," and Attorney Paxton read an original ode on "The Kenton Trail." Music was furnished by a high school band composed of students from the Bowersville and Spring Valley schools under the direction of Miss Donna Shaley. Members of the three Greene County Chapters of the D. A. B. also had a part in the ceremonies. Dr. R. L. Haines presented the fifteen acre tract surrounding the monument to the Ohio Archaeological Society.

ANDREW MELLON TALKS FROM THE SHOULDER

Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, in his speech before the International Chamber of Commerce last week spoke more truth about business conditions than has come out of any department of the National government concerning the depression. For months we have had an overflow of propaganda rot from state and national government agencies, none of which has proven true and none that would stand an analysis towards building confidence on the part of the public in the future.

Mr. Mellon does not attempt to cover up anything but comes into the open with a frank statement that we are in one of the worst depressions, panics or business slumps, the world has ever known. Moreover he warns that we must not underestimate the seriousness of the situation. This one statement is worthy of serious thought on the part of each and every individual. The bunk about prosperity being just around the corner or two weeks away influenced many to take the wrong step and conditions naturally would continue to grow worse.

Business men of today that experienced the panic times back in the eighties and nineties have not been fooled and Mellon has taken the proper step in warning the country, though it might have been done many months ago. The farmer, manufacturer, businessman and even bankers are facing similar problems and all classes are affected alike. One many think his particular line is worse than some other but in the main all are facing the same situation. Business will naturally get better in the course of time but don't expect it over a week-end and do not place much confidence in reports about business—conditions improving in the immediate future. Unless you have an abundance of surplus money you had better stay as far away from Wall street investments as possible. Within the past few months men rated as wealthy have been reduced to the bread line. It is no place for the small investor in panic season or out.

LEGISLATIVE MACHINERY AT WORK ON TAX BILL

By this time you have no doubt read something of the provisions of the proposed tax laws under classification, the miracle law that was to provide funds for government operation and relieve real estate of tax burden. When the bill is passed, if such is possible, the public will probably find out that only a new method has been manufactured to draw more tax money from the pockets of all the people. There is no sign of reducing state government cost. Moreover more power is to be placed in the hands of state officials to thumb taxpayers at will.

When classification was adopted the promise was that real estate would be subject to a maximum tax of fifteen mills. Now provision is being made to re-enact a former law that permitted an extra tax levy by vote of the people. This is part of the relief program. If the property owner has an automobile or a truck or both, he is to be called upon to pay about double the present license fees. If the property owner has an account in the bank or building and loan it is to be taxed to provide relief. If the property owner uses tobacco, cigarettes, soft drinks or even malt for his home brew, he is to be taxed according to the rates provided in the proposed bill. Thus you can see just how the real estate owner is to get relief. In fact it is nothing more than a new means for raising additional funds for tax spenders.

Ohio is now facing a financial crisis that would wreck any banking or manufacturing institution. It was only a few days ago Ohio citizens read press reports that the new $6,000,000 office building was inadequate and the masonry for the walls is not yet completed. No provision has been made for heating or lighting the building and another $500,000 is asked to make this possible. The state faces the problem of finding money to meet the largest deficit ever left by one administration to another.

Ohio tax payers should be given the opportunity of having some say in framing the proposed changes in tax laws. No law should be passed that does not provide for a referendum election if the people desire it. The politicians point out that you cannot have a tax law subject to referendum but there is nothing to prohibit it if the legislature makes provision for it. The tax spending crowd, those seeking favors and protection from paying their share of taxes naturally oppose the referendum idea, fearing the result if the people once get to vote on it. If what we can see by observation and have heard in discussions before the special tax committee that has drawn these various bills, there is to be plenty of favoritism and it will not be for the benefit of the ordinary home owner or farmer that owns his own land.

The respective land owners were given definite lines as to who was to keep up the fence and which end was which.

SUIT FOR ACCOUNTING

Suit has been brought in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Bessie Spahr, administratrix of the estate of her father, J. H. Michner, against Thomas C. Long, Xenia real estate dealer and the National Surety Co., New York, as bondsmen, to compel Long to file an account as executor and trustee under the will. Long was removed by the probate court as executor April 14 and as trustee on April 29, because of failure to file an account. Mrs. Spahr was named administratrix de bonis non with the will annexed.

SOY BEANS GROW BEST
WHEN PLANTED EARLY

Yields of Both Grain and Hay Increased by Early Plantings in May

By planting soybeans from May 10 to May 15, better yields of both hay and grain may be obtained than is possible from late plantings, according to J. B. Bark, chairman of the farm crops department of the Ohio State University, who says that early planting is of greater advantage, however, for seed, or grain production than it is for hay.

Although weeds may cause greater trouble with early plantings than they do when the crop is planted late, the maximum yields can be obtained only when soy beans have a full growing season in which to mature. When grown for hay, he states, good yields may be secured by planting as late as June 1. Plantings made after that are likely to result in reduced yields of hay.

Two methods are commonly used for planting soybeans. One way is drill them solid with a grain drill and the other method is to sow them in rows from 24 to 30 inches apart in order to permit cultivation. Solid drilling, Park points out, requires a larger amount of seed and often results in a weedier crop, but the labor of cultivation is saved. When drilling solid it is advisable to use not less than 2 bushels of Manchu per acre. Smaller seeded varieties require smaller amounts of seed for planting. The two methods of planting produce about the same yields if the weeds are controlled in both cases, he asserts. By discing the land before the beans are planted they are more likely to get started ahead of the next crop of weeds.

Beans that are drilled solid may be cultivated with a harrow or rotary hoe. The rotary hoe is especially useful in breaking the crust that sometimes forms before the beans come through the ground. Soybeans can be cultivated with either the rotary hoe or the harrow until the crop is 5 or 6 inches tall, provided it is done when the leaf surfaces are dry.

High Wages, High Dividends
Disarmament, Sweet Word
The Dole Bogey
King George's 21st Year

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, tells the International Chamber of Commerce it is the business of each industry to regularize employment and avoid seasonal, or cyclical periods of idleness. Mr. Swope gave his associates, the other industrial kings, sound advice. Their prosperity depends absolutely on the prosperity of their own and others' employees. It is the $60,000,000,000,000 earned and spent every year by American workers, in normal times that make prosperity. The few that live on unearned income cannot afford the nation's automobile, radio, washing machine or vacuum cleaner outfit.

"Disarmament is vital to the revival of business," said President Hoover to the International Chamber of Commerce, adding: "Of all proposals for the economic rehabilitation of the world I know of none which compares in necessity or importance with the successful results of general disarmament." General disarmament, if feasible, and if those agreeing to it would act loyally, would save many billions a year. But who will disarm first? Why not let those begin disarmament who have started all the important inter-national wars of a hundred years past. This country has never started one. When it was suggested that the death penalty be abolished, a witty Frenchman replied: "Que messieurs les assassins commencent." "Let the assassins commence." In disarmament, the warmakers might commence.

Great Britain is worried, "staggered," by the cost of the dole. It runs up now to $500,000,000 of our money a year. That is too much if spent unnecessarily. But it is a small sum if the spending prevents serious revolution. England preferred sending money to the continent, financing the fight of others in Napoleon's time, to going over and fighting on her own account. When the peace was won she was ripe for picking, she went over and picked it at Waterloo. With the question of unemployment dangerous in Great Britain, that rich country prefers to spend half a billion feeding the people rather than pay the cost of revolution. As it is, having the Labor party in power is a revolution enough for the Tories. And if a country can afford $20,000,000,000 an external war, it can afford some money to prevent dangerous dissatisfaction at home.

King George of England is celebrating the end of his twenty-first year as king. Only seventeen English kings and queens have remained longer than 21 years on the throne. King George has now equaled the term of William the Conqueror. His has been a different term. The Conqueror ruled. He suppressed many small kingdoms to make a big one, wiped villages and farms to create vast deer parks. Long after his death, as late as the time of Henry II, an English workman moving from one parish to another in search of a job, without permission, was branded on his flesh with a red-hot iron.

King George has lived to see a workman, formerly in the coal mines, prime minister of England, and writing the speeches that the king delivers, "the address from the throne."

Bryan Untied, Colorado boy, who saved several lives in the March blizzard, is out of the White House, back in his overalls at home, helping his mother with the weekly washing and his father feeding the pigs. Asked about Washington's wonders, he said he hadn't seen anything as fine as his baby sister. He held her in his arms for a while, before he put away his store clothes and put on his overalls. Young Untied doesn't know it, but he probably is happier than the President, whom he left behind in Washington.

Calvin Coolidge says we have too many lawyers and too many not of the right kind. We need only 4,500 new lawyers each year, and about 10,000 are admitted to the bar. That helps explain several things. As to the necessary number of lawyers, Calvin Coolidge does not agree with Peter the Great of Russia. When Peter was told that the men in white wigs running in and out of the English law court were all lawyers, he was amazed. "There are only two lawyers in Russia," said he. "And as soon as I get home I'm going to hang one of them."

Marriages in New York state last year were fewer than in any year of this century, excepting 1908. That is more important, and discouraging, than the low prices for stocks. Young women should realize that the only career worth while is marriage; the only possession really important to a woman is a fine baby, and her greatest pleasure on earth is watching that baby learning to walk, and to say "Papa".

For Rent: House of five rooms on Main street. Mrs. Anna Townsley

Forty-five years ago Tuesday night was an eventful night in the history of Greene county — the great May flood which followed an incessant downpour of rain for several hours. Masses creek rose to a new high water mark that has never been reached even during the Dayton flood of 1913. Water passed over East street as the bridge would not take the volume coming down the channel. You could stand at the Main street bridge and place your hand in the water. Xenia had a record of 27 lives lost when the small stream, Shawnee, went on a tear and David Tarbox, Zion City, Ill., then a resident of Cedarville, plunged into the water and saved five persons from drowning.

When is winter over anyhow? We have warm days in the spring and then a few weeks of cold weather. Spring officially enters in March and we have other signs that people like to point to that winter is past. When the dogwood is in bloom it used to be said was the time to plant corn but the latest we have heard is that summer can never be expected until after the snowfalls have faded and the bloom dropped to the ground.

Two years ago this summer a well-known Xenia insurance agent became unbalanced mentally according to reports. It was soon discovered that the agent was in bad with his life insurance company to the extent of many thousands of dollars. It also developed the agent had been drawing dividends of certain policy holders, neither the company or individual policy holders having the least suspicion of wrong doing. While most of the policy holders that had their earnings drawn resided in Xenia, Cedarville had a few victims in the drawing. The company made good the loss to policy holders.

Within the past few days another insurance and real estate agent in Xenia has disappeared, if common reports about the city are true. At any rate he is not seen on the street and stories in connection with his absence are supposed shortage in funds connected with an estate, heavily obligated to one bank in the city and misappropriation of his wife's funds. One suit has been brought in court and all sorts of rumors are afloat that is providing interesting gossip about the county capital.

The question of taxation that is uppermost in the minds of most people in Ohio brings up the financial situation and under what condition much of the business of today is being conducted. The installment and credit plan has in the past been a great aid to business or was at that time but "pay day" has arrived and now it is something else, with money tight, unemployment and uncertainty of the future, this plan is said to be going into discard. However we find that chattel mortgages in Greene county run as high as fifty or sixty a day while the average on real estate is about five a day.

With June comes the roses and brides and from what we learn Cedarville will witness several weddings next month. When in a neighboring city several days ago we learned a very popular and charming Cedarville girl that has been teaching in that city school is to complete her teaching next month. This sounds much like a June bride. Another Cedarville girl connected with the local schools is to be a June bride from all reports and in addition two girl members of the graduating class.

In each case local girls are to marry men out of this community which indicates the male section of this community is not much interested in undertaking the problem of finding out whether "two can live as cheap as one." We have some young and middle aged bachelors that should not let the depression keep them from marching to the altar. The drop in the price of everyday commodities should lend encouragement to these few that have been waiting and saving for these many years. It is not necessary to mention names for each reader can make his own list of bachelors that have been "in waiting" these many years.

Commencements, high school or college, usually takes older citizens back to the happy days when they crossed the threshold for a place in the world of affairs. It is the one big time in the life of our young people today just as it was in days gone by. Many of those that graduated twenty-five years ago now find just as much pleasure in aiding their own sons and daughters complete this step. It is also a reminder that the graduate of twenty-five or thirty years ago has now covered a good portion of the average journey in life. The contrast of school life in those days with what the student of today enjoys is quite marked and the advancement over the same period what we desire it to be. One of the objects of life is for one generation to prepare for another.

Lesson

Lesson for May 17
JESUS ENTERS JERUSALEM AS KING

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:29-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Teaches the People That He Is King.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Teaches the People That He Is King.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Teaches the People That He Is King.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Supremacy of Jesus.

This event is frequently designated as the "triumphal entry" which is somewhat misleading. While it was his official entry into Jerusalem, it was far from being a triumphal entry. In fulfillment of prophecy the Messiah officially presented himself to the Jewish nation. It seems that he had the cry "Hosanna" was taking form the awful word "crucifixion." It is possible that the word "crucifixion" was uttered by some of the same persons who had cried "Hosanna." Though they were utterly blind to the fact, God was about to carry out his plan of Hosanna which means "save now" through the crucifixion of his son.

1. The Preparation (vv. 29-34).

1. Sending the disciples for the ass (vv. 29-30).

He told them just where to go to find it, and how to answer the inquiry of the one who owned it. This shows how perfectly the Lord knows all our ways.

2. The fulfillment of prophecy (Zech. 9: 9, Cf. Matt. 21: 4, 5).

Some five hundred years before, Zechariah had predicted this event. Christ's entry into Jerusalem was an exact fulfillment of this prediction.

This is highly instructive to those who would understand the as yet unfulfilled prophecies. Since the predictions of his first coming were literally fulfilled, we can expect the second to be literally fulfilled also. The first is established beyond a doubt. The second we should as heartily believe. The prediction of Zechariah 14: 3-11 will be just as literally fulfilled as that of Zechariah 9: 9.

3. Obedience of the disciples (vv. 32-34).

The request may have seemed strange and even unreasonable, yet they fully obeyed. The true disciple will render glad obedience to the Lord, no matter how strange his commands may seem. Obedience to the Lord is the only way to true wisdom.

11. The Entry of the King (vv. 35-38).

1. The disciples set Jesus upon the ass (v. 35).

This act of putting the garments upon the ass and setting Jesus upon it showed that they recognized him as their king (II Kings 9:13).

2. Acclaimed as king by the disciples (vv. 36-38).

Some spread their garments in the way, others perhaps having no garments to spare cut down branches of trees and strewed them in his way. This, no doubt, was just as acceptable to him. They praised God for all the mighty works which they had seen.

III. The Critical Pharisees (vv. 39, 40).

Although swept along by the demonstrations of the multitude, the Pharisees deemed it prudent to ask the Lord to rebuke the disciples as such behavior might be interpreted by the Roman government as an insurrection. To their demand Jesus replied that such homage was not only fitting but necessary. He declared that if the multitude were silent, the very stones would cry out.

IV.—The King Rejected (vv. 41-44).

Christ knew what awaited him in Jerusalem. Though surrounded by loyal hearts, he knew that the rulers of the nation had no heart for him. His coming trial and death loomed before him so that he wept over Jerusalem.

He knew what awful days awaited it and that loyal hearts would gladly welcome him if they only knew. He showed them that their inability to see him as their King and Saviour would result in bringing upon them the destruction of their city.

V. The King Taking Possession of His Own House (vv. 45-48).

Upon entering the city he rebuked the rulers for allowing the house of God to become degraded by carrying on traffic therein for gain. The cleansing of the temple only increased their hatred and opposition to him. The chief priests and scribes even sought his destruction.

Christian Service

There is something deadly in Christian service, where "the excellency of power" is of us and not of God. The tragedy in so many lives is that they have no adequate power and when they are confronted with supremely difficult tasks they fall cope with it and are disastrously overwhelmed.—Jewett.

WATCH IT GROW

There's a real thrill in watching the flowers, the vegetables, and the grain as they break through the ground and then grow bigger each day—and there is a thrill too, in seeing the first interest predicted made on your bank book and then seeing your deposit grow bigger and bigger with each semi-annual addition of interest.

5 1-2%

acts on your money like sunshine and gentle rain act on your crops—it makes it grow fast. Don't stunt its growth with a small interest rate when here you can get 5 1-2 per cent with safety.

Every dollar is protected by first mortgage on real estate and available whenever you want it.

It's REALLY WORTH
MORE THAN IT COSTS

MANY business men, in speaking of their telephone service, have told us that "it is really worth more than it costs." So have housewives.

Business concerns find that the telephone saves them from 10 to 50 times what it costs—in some cases, even more. It saves money and makes money for them.

In the home, the telephone is ready to serve every member of the family 24 hours a day. It helps the housewife with her marketing and in bringing every kind of service to her door. It keeps her in touch with friends and members of the family who are absent. It is the surest protection in time of danger or emergency. Many people have told us that one call has been worth the cost of the service for many months.

SAMPLE GRAND

TO BE SOLD FOR LESS THAN ONE-HALF OF RETAIL PRICE

We have a beautiful Grand piano — mahogany finish — in this territory. This instrument was ordered but due to unforeseen circumstances the party that ordered it is unable to receive it. Rather than stand the expense of returning this to the factory we will sell it for a fraction of its regular price.
